Mirboo North 2020 Report

Welcome to Mirboo North’s first Vital Signs, a snapshot of how our community is faring in key quality of life areas: Health & Wellbeing, Education & Learning, Economy, Environment and Belonging.

Using credible data combined with people’s lived experiences, the goal of this report is to build a better understanding of challenges and opportunities in Mirboo North and its surrounding communities. This understanding is vital to making our community a better place for everyone, now and forever.

We acknowledge the Gunaikurnai and the Bunurong people, and we pay our respects to Elders past and present, whose knowledge and wisdom have ensured the continuation of culture and traditional practices, shaping and caring for this precious land and ensuring its abundance. We aim to work respectfully with all people and to encourage a lighter footprint on the land, to ensure that it remains environmentally, economically, and aesthetically sustainable.

“Great friendly people, we can do it attitude, natural beauty and outdoor recreation opportunities.”

“If it is home, never had a place I have lived for as long, wouldn’t move anywhere else.”
HEALTH & WELLBEING

Without good physical and mental health, we cannot thrive as individuals or as a community. Our health is shaped by many factors including our lifestyle and access to services.

The data shows that mental health, alcohol consumption and family violence are vital issues for our community. Our health behaviours are contributing to our rates of obesity.

Access
There are more GPs per head of the population in South Gippsland in comparison to Victoria, but access to psychologists is more of a challenge for many of our residents.¹

124 GPs per 100,000 people in South Gippsland.
(119 GPs per 100,000 in Victoria).

Psychologists per 100,000 people in South Gippsland.
(113 psychologists per 100,000 in Victoria).

Mental Health

Patients talk to their GP about mental health more than any other health issue.²

62%

of adults in South Gippsland have, at some point, been diagnosed with depression or anxiety.³

41.2% Primary
65.6% Secondary

Health Behaviours

of adults in South Gippsland are obese (BMI of 30.0 or higher).⁴

24.6%

South Gippsland’s rate of family violence incidents is 14.2% higher than Victoria’s.⁸

The Orange Door (orangedoor.vic.gov.au) is a new free service for adults, children and young people who are experiencing, or who have experienced family violence.⁹

Educational Attainment and Pathways

The Census gives a snapshot of educational attainment in our community, which reflects our socio economic make up.⁷

South Gippsland’s school leavers have a higher rate of participation in Apprenticeships and Traineeships.¹⁰

In Australia employment outcomes are strongly linked to education.¹¹

80% with a Bachelor degree or above are employed.
75% with an Advanced Diploma or Diploma are employed.
44% Year 11 or below are employed.

Lifelong Learning

Access to affordable community based lifelong learning is a strength within our community. Opportunities for formal and informal education, training and learning through local organisations including the CFA, CWA, Arts organisations, U3A, and other groups improves skills and builds social cohesion.

Building skills around mental health

In 2017, Year 9 students at Mirboo North Secondary College told coordinator Rebecca Woodall during student forums that they enjoyed gaining Level 2 First Aid, but couldn’t understand why they didn’t offer Mental Health First Aid (MHFA), so they could be of help to their peers who were having tough times.

“Teachers completed a two day training course with Latrobe Regional Hospital, then they conducted training sessions with the Year 9 and Year 11’s as part of their Community Breakout Program. Many parents also took the opportunity to receive free MHFA training at school,” said Rebecca.

“By 2020, the senior student body from Year 9-12 will have received the MHFA training, breaking down stigma around mental health, giving them confidence to check in with their peers and equipping them with knowledge of where they can access help if needed.”

EDUCATION & LEARNING

Access to Education is vital to health and wellbeing and empowers children and adults.

Our district provides us with many educational opportunities including early learning, school and life-long learning. The data shows that not as many of our young people go on to tertiary education, but those who do have a high rate of participation in vocational education and training.

Early Learning

Access to high-quality preschool programs is a proven strategy for lifting outcomes for all children.

Two-thirds of year olds in Australia participate in some form of early education, and there is near-universal enrollment in preschool for 4 year olds.¹²

From 2020, three-year-olds in South Gippsland will have access to 15 hours of subsidized kindergarten per week.

Imagining futures with rural kids

The Dream Seeds program empowered Mirboo North Primary School students to create a vision and practical pathways towards positive futures and encouraged students to be leaders of their own lives. Six young adults with rural backgrounds mentored the students, showing them they could follow their dreams, overcome barriers to education, providing aspiration and encouraging fun participation.

Kitty Robinson, Dream Seeds team leader said “It’s rewarding to see their faces when kids realise that they’re finding something out about themselves and exploring new language, such as what values are, and how when they work as a small community they can make changes that impact.”

The core themes at the heart of Dream Seeds is aspiration, resilience and connection.

Kitty says that Dream Seeds is currently developing a comprehensive website so that students can access an online portal after they participate in the workshop.

ECONOMY

Economic viability and sustainability is vitally important for building strong rural communities.

While the number of jobs in our region has grown, it has not grown as fast as Victoria’s, but our unemployment rate is lower. Many of us run our own businesses, or are self employed.

The number of jobs in South Gippsland have increased.

The manufacturing sector in Gippsland has seen a steep decline in jobs but this sector still contributes 15% of our region’s gross revenue (the largest amount of any sector). ▶

Over $17 billion is spent each year in the Gippsland region, 49% of this is spent with suppliers located outside of the region (a 10% shift could result in 4,200 new jobs and $1.4bn new money into the economy). ▶

Industry

Of the estimated 105,677 people who work in Gippsland, 14.5% work in the Health Care and Social Assistance sector. It is the region’s biggest employer. Jobs in this sector increased by 20.65% between 2011 and 2016. ▶

The Mirboo North community successfully lobbied against logging company VicForests’ plans to log three native forest coupes. Key to this achievement was the surveying done by Preserve Our Forests Biodiversity Working Group, led by Preserve Our Forests Coordinator, Susan Koci, and thirty volunteers, who undertook the huge task of documenting the forest’s biodiversity.

Climate Change

Climate change is the most significant environmental challenge facing us. As an agricultural region, South Gippsland’s economy, and its farmers, are particularly vulnerable to its impact which is predicted to include:

- More days over 35 degrees
- Less annual rainfall, but more intense rainfall events
- More days with high and extreme fire danger
- More extreme weather events (floods and droughts)
- Decreased water flows in rivers and wetlands
- Increased weed and pest distribution

ENVIROMENT

Our environment is vital to our health, quality of life and survival. How we manage and protect the ecosystems and resources that surround us, determines their sustainability as well as our own.

The natural environment is one of the reasons we love where we live. Maintaining our region’s biodiversity and managing the impact of climate change is a priority for our community.

Biodiversity

Mirboo North is located in the Strzelecki Ranges Bioregion. Bioregions help us to better identify and protect an area based on its geographic and natural characteristic rather than its administrative boundaries.

The Strzelecki Ranges Bioregion is one of the most cleared bioregions in Australia.

About 84% of plants, 83% of mammals, and 45% of birds are found only in Australia. ▶

Changes to the landscape, native habitat as a result of human activity have put many of our unique species at risk.

There are an estimated 5,000-15,000 Strzelecki Gum (Eucalyptus Strzeleckii) remaining. Threats include grazing, weed invasion and clearing. ▶ Preserve Our Forests successfully lobbied against logging in coupes near Mirboo North, preventing the destruction of a significant habitat which threatened the Greater Glider and other native species.

Saving the forest with science

The Mirboo North community successfully lobbied against logging company VicForests’ plans to log three native forest coupes. Key to the achievement was the surveying done by Preserve Our Forests Biodiversity Working Group, led by Coordinator, Susan Koci, and thirty volunteers, who undertook the huge task of documenting the forest’s biodiversity.

“The forest held the key to maintaining our region’s biodiversity,” says Marg Thomas, from Preserve Our Forests.

“We now see it as our role to promote better care of the forest, ensuring that we are all part of looking after it and that we become stewards of our forest,” says Max Thomas, from Preserve Our Forests.

The State Government has designated the forests as an ‘Immediate Protection Area (IPA)’, and Preserve Our Forests are looking forward to working with the government to formalise the details over the coming months.

Business expo showcases ‘hidden’ products & services

Mirboo North & District Community Bank recently held their Business Expo, giving businesses and tradesmen a chance to promote their products and services to people in the district.

Businesses that attended on the night were surveyed, identifying current challenges for running their enterprise. Feedback included finding and hiring appropriate local staff, access to staff training, business networking, and obstacles for their customers included distance. Many said that lack of visibility without a shopfront was a factor.

“I am in the process of securing a retail space in the town, but this has taken two years to consider. I have inspected many buildings, but size and having access to toilet facilities have been lacking. I would also like space to expand, so I could take on more clients or offer space to allied health professionals,” said Caroline Cox from Clarity Skin Care, who attended.

BELONGING
How we participate in the life of our community and our connections to the people around us help to develop a sense of belonging, which is vital to building healthy, inclusive communities.

Wellbeing is a strength across our region and, while there are barriers to belonging, most feel that people in their neighbourhood are willing to help each other.

Community Voices

People in our community find their connections in a wide variety of places, including volunteering for a local organisation, helping at the school, or as a member of a local arts, historical, sporting, environmental or music group.

While belonging is a strength in our community, barriers to belonging include: Being single or not having any children, being older, being a newcomer to the community, mental health, physical isolation, and lack of public transport.

At our Mirboo North community forum, you told us what you would like to see.

“Community education around mental health.”
“Enhancements of library facilities to enable/support adult learners.”
“Environmental education...more citizen science opportunities.”
“Develop local trails and tourist they are a mainstay of our economy.”

Why did we produce this report?
The Mirboo North & District Community Foundation and the Mirboo North & District Community Bank are proud to present you with the first Vital Signs report for our region. This is the first major collaborative project of both organisations who have a shared vision to foster strength and prosperity for the communities in our District.
We are hoping that this project will lead to a shared understanding of the challenges and opportunities before us as a community. This report is merely a starting point from which further discussion will enable us to target our community’s resources to those areas.

How to use this report:
This report is to get you thinking and chatting with your friends, family and work colleagues. Discuss questions like:

What issues do you care about?
What data surprises you?
Will this data change the focus of your community organisation?

How can you get involved?
Tell us what you or your community organisation thinks. How should we make the most of our opportunities or tackle our challenges?
Offer your time and expertise to tackle initiatives that improve our community outcomes.

About the Mirboo North & District Community Foundation
Our vision is a healthy, vibrant and resilient community working together to tackle our challenges and celebrate our successes. We work towards this vision through managing our ‘Future Fund’ of over $6.2M, investing in the community through grants (more than $1.3M so far), directing donations to key community projects and building capacity and skills across the district.
We also facilitate a shared understanding of our needs through community planning initiatives, support local people to develop local solutions and encourage the giving of time, money and skills back to the community.

About the Mirboo North & District Community Bank
The Mirboo North & District Community Bank is a community-owned company which not only delivers full banking services to its customers, but it also distributes around 80% of its profits back to the communities in our district through a diverse range of community investment programs (the other 20% are distributed to our local shareholders).
Our customers have enabled us to distribute more than $1M back to our communities in less than 9 years since opening. This Community Bank model is unique and a way for small communities to not only retain banking services for their town but to also make their community more sustainable. Our motto is: “Banking is our Business, Community is our Purpose.”

Our Vital Signs District

Enriching community connection among seniors
Mirboo North’s dedicated volunteer community bus service provides important social connection and accessible transportation for senior citizens in Mirboo North.
The bus is used regularly by the Mirboo North Senior Citizens Club, who organise regular shopping trips to Midvalley Shopping Centre in Morwell.
“The bus service is very unique as it can pick residents up directly from home, providing residents with an opportunity to go to some local shopping and have some lunch afterwards,” said Margaret Peters, regular user of the service.

You’d be hard pressed to find another service that provides a kerbside service, it helps those who are not quite as able as others to continue to be independent. If we didn’t have this service, many residents would have to rely solely on family and friends for transport.”
